

TRENDING

AT A GLANCE

Average hours per weekday spent by high school students in various activities

~0 Estimate is approximately zero.

NOTE: Data includes individuals ages 15 to 19 who were enrolled in high school. Data include nonholiday weekdays during the months of Jan.– May and Sept.–Dec. and are average for 2011–15.

SOURCE: Bureau of Labor Statistics, American Time Use Survey

—CHAT SNAP—

Jared C Wastler | @jcwastler

Q3: What systems are you using to monitor student engagement? #APChat

Debra Paradowski | @arrowhead1team

A3: We look at weekly data and use that to connect with our students and families. We are also able to attend classes with students to interact with remote students. Zoom meetings are held to connect students with other students. #APChat

Jody Ratti | @JCRattiFCPS

A3: We're using log-in data, class grades, work completion, and teacher/student communication to monitor. In a pinch, we're still knocking on doors... #APChat

PRINCIPOLL

How does your school build recovery and resilience in students? (Select any that apply.)

Ensuring all students are connected to at least one caring adult
82.86%

Helping teachers cultivate relationship-building language with students
68.57%

Educating students about regulation tools to help manage and reduce stress 48.57%

Something else? Share your school's approach**
14.29%

Hosting webinars for families to assist in virtual and remote learning
5.71%

35 votes
*Respondents could choose multiple answers; therefore, percentages exceed 100%.
**Additional responses included peer mentoring programs, increased number of counselors, and direct outreach to families.

Join our weekly Twitter chats on Sunday evenings:
#APChat and #PrinLeaderChat